Modernism to the masses: Pioneering designs for affordable postwar homes

The Case Study House program (1945–1966) was a unique event in the history of American architecture. Sponsored by Arts & Architecture magazine, the program sought to respond to the postwar building boom with prototype modern homes that could be both easily replicated and readily affordable to the average American.

Concentrated on the Los Angeles area, the Case Study Houses included 36 model homes commissioned from such major architects of the day as Richard Neutra, Raphael Soriano, Craig Ellwood, Charles and Ray Eames, Pierre Koenig, Eero Saarinen, A. Quincy Jones, and Ralph Rapson. Their criteria included “using, as far as is practicable, many war-born techniques and materials best suited to the expression of man’s life in the modern world.”

The results of the program would redefine the modern home and extend influence not only across the United States but around the world. This compact guide includes all of the Case Study Houses with over 150 photos and plans, as well as a map showing locations of all sites, including those that no longer exist.

THE BEST HISTORY OF THE CASE STUDY HOUSES

By EdB

This large format book is an important addition to the history of the Case Study Houses. This really oversize book is the same format as the RICHARD NEUTRA book. and contains site plans, floor plans and both black & white and color photographs. Anyone interested in Mid-Century architecture will enjoy this book as it presents the concept of early small and larger homes that could be mass-produced to make the single family homes affordable to the average American. This is the best book published on the subject.

A good buy.

By Opera Man

All I wanted was a book with photos and diagrams of the Case Study Houses. This book fit the bill. And I only paid $15 instead of $150 for some book with lots of long dissertations on the houses. This one is a good buy. Highly recommended.

By Amazon Customer

Great book! It has a lot of detail about each house. Found it isn't necessary to read cover to cover. It's more fun to experience each house as you find the interest.
